When Water Causes an Evacuation

With the recent flooding fresh on our minds I wanted to remind everyone that your pre-incident planning efforts can make a huge difference for you and your family. The first part of your planning process is to be aware of local conditions. Be informed, get a NOAA alert radio and monitor local alerts, warnings and news broadcasts. Know your area and what conditions cause flooding that could cause you to evacuate your home. Build your evacuation kit before you need it and have a plan of where you can go and how to get there once you evacuate. If you need to be sheltered in an Emergency Management/Red Cross shelter there are a few things you need to know.

If only 1 or 2 families need shelter the Red Cross may provide accommodations. If the Red Cross is unable to provide commercial accommodations the Henry County Office of Emergency Management working with the Red Cross will open a shelter when needed.

Some basic shelter information for you to consider:

1. Sleeping areas will most likely be in a single large open area
2. We will provide a cot or mat (and blanket if available)
3. Families will be kept together as much as possible
4. Non family member - men and women's areas will be segregated
5. Evacuees will be provided a copy or allowed to read the shelter rules upon arrival and must agree to follow them to be allowed to stay in the shelter

Recommended Supplies to Include in your Basic Shelter Kit:

- Flashlight(s)
- Cell phone and charger
- Any required medications and medical supplies
- Emergency contact list
- Important family documents such as copies of insurance policies, identification and bank account records in a waterproof, lockable container and keep in your vehicle.
- Snacks and water
- Infant formula and diapers, if you have an infant
- Personal hygiene items including feminine supplies
- Moist towelette's and hand sanitizer
- Weather specific change of clothing and shoes per person
- A sleeping bag or warm blanket and pillow for each person
- Cards, games, toys
- Folding chair per person (optional)

The kit items listed above are not a requirement to be sheltered but can make your experience much less stressful.
